What keeps us busy most of the time?

• Reviewing proposals for new graduate degree programs
• Reviewing modification requests for existing graduate degree programs
• Reviewing changes to graduate policies
• Reviewing new and revised graduate courses
• Conducting periodic reviews of all existing graduate programs
How can members contribute?

Participation:

• Show up (on time).
• Come prepared to meetings.
• Read the agenda items.
• Provide written and verbal summary of item you are assigned to review.
• Contribute meaningful and appropriate commentary to the Council.
• Sign up for a subcommittee or board in your capacity as a Graduate Council member.
Important items to know about:

• Confidentiality
  Members are not to share confidential discussions that take place during a meeting or distribute confidential documents with anyone outside of the Graduate Council. If members are unclear on what is confidential they should ask the Graduate Council Chair and Analyst prior to sharing or disseminating information of any kind.

• Voting
  Voting outcomes are public (i.e. what agenda items were approved) but voting specifics are kept confidential (i.e. who voted on what). AGS reps, Ex Officio members, Consultants, and the Senate Analyst do not vote.

• Executive Session
  Executive Session can be called by the Chair when it’s determined that a conversation must be held where only members of the Graduate Council can be present. This would include the faculty voting members and the Senate Analyst.
Conflict of Interest

• In the university, the term “conflict of interest” refers to financial or other personal considerations that may compromise a faculty member’s professional judgment in administration, management, instruction, research, or other professional activities.

• Conflicts of interest have the potential to bias, directly or indirectly, important aspects of the councils’ work, including their recommendations about academic personnel decisions, proposals for degree programs and academic units, budgetary and planning decisions, faculty grants programs, and other areas of shared governance.

• Senate council/committee members must always keep potential conflicts in mind and recuse themselves where a conflict of interest arises.
Senate Recusal Policy

Senate council/committee members must recuse themselves in the following circumstances:

(A) The Senate council/committee member has, or has had, a family relationship with the applicant, such as that of a current or former significant other, partner, or spouse, or child, sibling, or parent.
(B) The Senate council/committee member has a personal financial interest in the outcome of the action item.
(C) The Senate council/committee member believes that his or her recusal is necessary to preserve the integrity of the review process.

Upon joining the Senate council or committee, each member will be informed of this recusal policy and will be expected to abide by it.
Comment
In carrying out their work, Senate council/committee members are expected to rely on their academic expertise, experience, and judgment, and so professional agreements or differences of opinion are not by themselves a basis for recusal.

Grey Areas
In “grey areas” where a Senate council/committee member is uncertain regarding recusal, he or she may disclose the potential grounds for recusal to the Senate council or committee Chair. The Chair may then determine whether the member should recuse himself or herself, or the Chair may seek the advice of other council/committee members in making this determination. The Chair or members may suggest that a member abstain from voting when a conflict of interest exists. The Chair should consult the whole council/committee regarding potential grounds for his or her own recusal. In making its determination regarding recusal in grey areas, the council/committee will take into account the fact that, by design, each member brings valuable and unique expertise to the council/committee as a whole.
Distinction of Roles and Purview

- Graduate Council has authority over: graduate education, degree programs, courses, admissions, fellowships, employment, rules governing dissertations, graduate degrees, etc.
- Graduate Division is an administrative unit that provides support to Schools and graduate students. Graduate Division works in close collaboration with the Provost, senior administrators, School Deans and Graduate Council in managing graduate education.
- Deans, Associate Deans, and Graduate Division implement policies and guidelines established by the Graduate Council.
  - Examples of these policies include:
    - Academic disqualification policy
    - Leave of absence policy
    - Admissions policies
    - Fellowship guidelines
Thank you for your participation on Graduate Council!
